Knox County Hospital District Welcomes Dr. Kendra Williams

The family practice physician is now scheduling appointments at Knox City Clinic.

KNOX CITY, Texas (October 7, 2022) – Knox County Hospital District (KCHD) announces the addition of a family practice physician to the local medical team. Dr. Kendra Williams will begin seeing patients in the Knox City Clinic beginning Oct. 17.

As a Board-Certified Family Medicine physician, Dr. Williams has the expertise to provide comprehensive medical care for all family members in every stage of life. She provides preventive care through routine checkups, in-office procedures, health-risk assessments, personalized consultations on maintaining a healthy lifestyle, and coordinates care with subspecialists. She will also be providing OB care, with arrangements for prenatal care in Knox City and deliveries to take place at Seymour Hospital.

From prenatal care, newborns, and children, to teens, adults, and even seniors, Dr. Williams can be your first source of healthcare.

“As our community continues to grow, it is important that we have a local medical team in place to support the dynamic and changing needs of our community,” says Stephen Kuehler, CEO of KCHD. “Dr. Williams not only has the credentials to care for our patients, but she also has the compassionate personality that creates a welcoming and comforting environment that we all look for when seeing a doctor.”

Dr. Williams comes to Knox City after participating in the Texas Academy of Family Physicians Scholar Program to develop leadership skills. In the program, she developed a cancer screening program for medically underserved patients in a rural setting.

When it comes to education and training, Dr. Williams has an impressive resume that includes Family Medicine Residency at Permian Basin Family Medicine Residency at Texas Tech University in the Rural Track, a Doctor of Medicine degree from McGovern Medical School at The University of Texas Health Science Center in Houston, and a Bachelor of Science in Biomedical Sciences from McMurry University in Abilene.

Adding to her professional and academic expertise, Dr. Williams is also certified by the American Board of Family Medicine.
